

We are sorry to hear of your loss

Working through your loved one's affairs after they've passed can be a time-consuming process, depending on preparations they made.

We will pack, transport and store their items until you are ready.

Calm

You don't need added stress at this time. Let our specialist team discretely and efficiently help with this piece of admin.

Assistance

We can support with packing, transport and storage. We will create an inventory of your loved ones belongings and you can arrange a time to sort them when you are ready.

Respectful

Our specialist and trusted team will handle your loved one's belongings with the utmost care.

Ease

Put your mind at ease knowing our team has this under control.

Keep, repurpose or donate

When you are ready, give us a call to arrange a time to visit our storage facility and sort your loved one's belongings. You can do this over a couple of visits if needed.

You may choose to repurpose or donate some items, giving them a new life. We can manage this process with our partners, such as All Heart who redirect items such as furniture or IT equipment to community groups.

We can also dispose of any waste or unwanted items that are not able to be repurposed or donated.

Careful wrap and pack

We will carefully pack your loved one's items, ensuring to wrap more delicate items.

Keepsake box

If you have a moment, you can help us decide what to add to a keepsake box you can take with you, or our specialist team can create this for you. This will include smaller items of value, such as jewellery or a watch, and will be given to you directly, rather than going into storage.

Clear inventory

We will record what is packed where, to make it easy for you to go through when you are ready. This will be a written inventory, as well as on the boxes themselves.

Fixed price on apartment size

To provide some certainty during a time of upheaval, we provide this service at a fixed price*.
Speak with our team, or the manager of your loved one's home, for more information.
